

PROJECT MANAGER

Class Definition

Under direction, performs a variety of duties related to housing services, economic development, community development, redevelopment, historic preservation and/or development projects and processes.

Distinguishing Characteristics

Project Manager is a specialized class in which incumbents perform assignments involving housing, economic, community development, redevelopment, and development activities. In the Housing and Neighborhood Revitalization Department, the incumbent may conduct architectural and historical review for compliance with Section 106, the Secretary of Interior's Standards for Preservation and Guidelines for Preserving Historic Buildings, and the Historic Preservation Ordinance. Incumbents may also be assigned to implement and manage housing development projects including affordable multi-family and single family residences, single room occupancies, mixed use residential properties, planned unit developments, subdivisions, and in-fill housing projects. In the Redevelopment office, the incumbents implement and manage redevelopment, and economic development projects including commercial, industrial, and housing project developments, preparation of plans, plan amendments, environmental impact reports, grant applications, development agreements, owner participation agreements, requests for proposals, and annual reports to state and federal agencies. In the Development Department, the incumbent analyzes, tracks and streamlines development permit processes including plan check review and entitlements. The incumbent may be assigned complex plan check review functions.
